Tristam Coffin, the founder of the family line of Coffins in America, signed his name "Coffyn." He was the son of Peter Coffin and the grandson of Nicholas Coffin.

This family is presumed to be of Norman origin, as the first of the name known in England was Sir Richard Coffyn, knight, who accompanied William the Conqueror on his invasion of that country in 1066. Sir Richard held the rank of general in his army, and on a division of the spoils of conquest he received from the hands of the king the manor of Alwington, in the parish of Abbotsham, on the borders of the Severn, and this property had descended in a direct line in the family, by inheritance, for upwards of seven centuries. He was knighted by the king. Members of the family are mentioned in history often associated with royalty from 1066 to the latter part of the sixteenth century, since which time the lines of descent are complete.

Tristam lived at Northam, near Capaum Pond, Nantucket, and died Tenth month 2d, 1681, aged seventy-six years. He was the first chief magistrate of Nantucket.

In 1642 he came to America with his family and widowed mother Joan, and resided first at Newbury, later at Haverhill and Salisbury, until 1660, when he settled at Nantucket.

Built house in Northam in 1652

Coffin is a Welsh word of Hebrew origin, ~~and~~ signifying a raven

Sir Peter of Braxton Co. Devon Esq. and Joan Cheniton (sic) and Denis Stuteville of Robert of Braxton, Co. Devon, Eng., — 1630, in England (Nan. V.R.).

The records of the Cutlers' Company of London reveal that the emigrant was the son of Edmond Hawes of Solihull (a parish about seven miles southeast of Birmingham), Warwichshire, gentleman; that he bound himself, 14 February 1626-7, to Edmond Warnett, a citizen and cutler of London, for the term of eight years from 2 February preceding, and that he was sworn free cutler 9 December 1634.

The Visitation of Warwickshire made in 1619, gives the pedigree of the family for eight generations down to the emigrant, Edmond (Edmond, William, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas, Thomas).

LAMBERT NOTES.

The Lambert family can trace its descent from high antiquity and can go back with all the certainty of written records to the time of William the Conqueror, in the eleventh century, and by history of undoubted credibility to the kingdom of the Lombards in Italy. That such was the origin of the family can not be doubted, for, were there no proofs of it in the records of heraldry, the name itself would indicate such to be the fact (according to the ancient orthography) as it was formerly spelled Lombard. This spelling some branches of the family still retain.

The earliest accounts of the Lombards indicate that they were a roving clan from Scandinavia (Norway), that they settled and lived for a time in Vindili (in Germany), until attracted by the fine plains of Modena, they quit their mountain fastnesses and took possession of and founded one of the most powerful states in Italy. The significance of the name Lombard in their family was "long beard"; as history informs us that the members of this clan parted their hair and suffered it to grow to whatever length it might attain; and from this circumstance the ancient state in which they established themselves took its name.

When William the Conqueror invaded England, he took with him Rodolph de Lambert, as his armor bearer or knight at arms. His name appears to indicate that his family was from Lombardy, as the "de" signifies "of" or "from". It appears by English heraldry that Rodolph de Lambert had a family in Normandy previous to his going to England.

Rodolph de Lambert left one son Hugh, and from him are descended all of the surname in England and North America. Hugh had by his wife Matilda, Sir William, his heir, who married Gundred, daughter of the Earl of Warren and Surrey, by Gundred, fourth daughter of William the Conqueror, and widow of Robert de Bellamont, Earl of Warwick. By her he had a son Henry, standard bearer to Henry II. He married Alice, sister of William Manderville, Earl of Essex. He had a son John who settled in Skipton, in York, and who had two sons, Sir Edmund and Thomas; and from these sons are descended a numerous family. (from Wm. R. Cutter's Genealogical and Personal Memoirs, Vol. II, page 1109)

The Nye Family.

The name Nye as a family name made its first appearance about the middle of the thirteenth century in the Sjelland Section of Denmark. At that time there were great internal uprisings in Sweden and many of the Swedes fled to adjoining countries to escape the dangers which threatened them at home. These people settled in little communities throughout Denmark and we find traces of their settlements in such compound names as Ny-borg, Ny-stead, and of other towns named after their Swedish homes; in like manner to the naming of New Amsterdam by the Dutch settlers in America; the Prefix Ny in the Danish language, meaning new or new comer.

In the adoption of surnames which hitherto had been practically unknown they employed much the same method. Great confusion often resulted from the lack of a surname and so to distinguish a man he was given a surname which suggested itself from some characteristic of the man, as for instance a trade or occupation, such as Baker, Carpenter, or Gardener, often his figure made the necessary suggestion; as Broad, Short,or Tallman; or the simple addition of son, as Johnson, Williamson orRobinson.

And so one of these emigrants from Sweden was given by the inhabitants of his new country the name Nye or Newcomer.

For the ancestry of this man we must look to the traditional history of Denmark. There are several stories of his origin but one will be sufficient to give us a point from which we may start. This tradition tells us that about the middle of the thirteenth century a person came and settled in Fredericksborg Bailiwick and Slangerup Parish in the Sjelland Section of Denmark. There was a rumor that he was the descendant of Harold Blaautand, who died in 985, through his daughter, who married one of the most famous of the Swedish heroes, Styribiorn, son of Olaf, King of Sweden.

Lave Nye was a sone of this descendant of the royal house of Sweden and is the first whose name appears on record. He became a man of great prominence and in 1316 was Bishop of Roskilde in the Sjelland Section. (Lexicon over Adelige Familier in Danmark, Norge og Hertogdommene).

Sven Nye is mentioned in 1346 as the heir of his father, the Bishop of Roskilde. (Danske Argive). In 1363 he had in Tudse, Holbeck Bailiwick, Sjelland Section a grant of land. (Lands Kontorets Annaler). He probably died the same year, since his son, Marten Nye was in that year declared heir of his father in Tudse. (Historia Sjellandia Vol. I, p. 68).

Nils Nye was a son of Marten Nye and in 1418 is mentioned in the Landnamabok as possessing land in Tudse, which he then deeded to his son.

Bertolf Nye is mentioned in 1466 as the son of Nils Nye of Tudse (Necrologium Daniae Vetus). Bertolf had two sons James and Randolf. James had a duel with Tostig, son of Gytha, (Annales Daniae III, 135), from the consequences of which he fled to England accompanied by his younger brother Randolf and settled in Wiltshire, afterward removing to Hampshire.

Randolf Nye settled in Sussex in 1527. He is mentioned in the Rolls as excusing himself on account of illness from attendance at the Assize held at Lewes. (Coram Rege Roll, 20 Hen. VIII). He held land in Uckfield, County Sussex (Rotuli Hundredorum 33 Hen. VIII). He had one son, William who is mentioned in Coram Rege Roll as the inheritor of his father, Randolf of Uckfield.

William Nye, son of Randolf, married Agnes, daughter of Ralph Tregian of Ballancé-Horned, County Hertford. William studied for the ministry and became Recor of the Parish Church of Ballancé-Horned before his father's death. (26 Hen. VIII. 1534 also History of Hertfordshire Vol I, p. 274. In 2 Edw. VI, 1548-9 we read that he claimed the land which his father who had evidently died the year before had "given unto him" in Uckfield "to have and to hold to them and to the heirs male of the said William his son, and in default of such issue male then the said premises to be given to the Parish Church." (Town Depositions Chancery 2 Edw. VI). As there are no other references to William Nye, except a mention of his name in 1556, when his son Ralph was served heir to his father, it must be inferred that he led a quiet and uneventful life.

Ralph Nye, son of William, became heir to his father in Uckfield and Balance in 1556. This date also fixes the date for the death of his father. (Retour, 117). He married June 18m 1555, Margaret Merynge of St. Mary, Woolchurch. (Marriage Licenses of the Bishop of London, B.) He had five children who are mentioned in Inquisitiones Post Mortem:

Thomas
Edmundus
Ralph
Anne
Mary

Thomas Nye, son of Ralph and Margaret (Merynge) Nye, married September 9, 1583, at St. Andrew, Hubbard, Katherine Poulsden of London. She was a daughter of the late Mr. Poulsden of Horley, County Surrey. (Marriage Licenses Bishop of London Court). He bargained and sold to William Poulsden of the same Parish, Yoeman, his wife's brother, a messuage or tenement buklded with a croft adjoining, containing sixteen acres in Bidlenden, County Kent. (Clerk of the Peace Rolls). William Poulsden then granted to Thomas Nye an annuity of four shillings arising from the said lands. Ralph Nye was executor of his father's estate in 1584. (Proceedings Court of Claims). Their children were:

Henry
Philip
John
Thomas

Thomas Nye, son of Thomas and Katherine (Poulsden) Nye of Bidlenden, County Kent, was a haberdasher. On June 10, 1619, he married for his second wife Agnes Rye. The name of his first wife who had died is not known. His second wife, whose age is given as thirty-nine, was of the same Parish and was the widow of Henry Rye. (Marriage Licenses, Archbishop of Canterbury Couth). July 4, 1637, he granted to his youngest son Thomas four acresof land in Bidlenden together with a building part of a Fold-course and stated in the document (My oldest son Benjamin having gone to New England." (Clerk of the Peace Rolls). Their children were:

Benjamin, born May 4, 1620; married Katherine Tupper and settled in Sandwich, Mass.

Thomas, born Sept. 16, 1623; married Margaret Webster and left descendants in Bidlenden. (St. Peter, Cornilll, Parish Register.)

Died: Dec. 12, 1690

Remarks: Edward Starbuck was born in England in 1604, and married Katherine Reynolds. Children: Nathaniel, born 1636, married Mary Coffin, and died June 6, 1719. Dorcas married William Gayer, and died about 1696. Sarah married William Story about 1658, married Joseph Austin 1660, and then married Humphrey Varney 1667. Abigail married Peter Coffin and stayed in Dover, N. H. Jethro died May 27, 1663.

Edward Starbuck came to Dover, N. H., from Derbyshire, England. He owned considerable land and was evidently a man of substance as to possessions, as tradition says he was in body. He was a Representative in 1643 and 1646, and was an elder in the church. On account of religious beliefs he had legal difficulties and left in 1659 to go on an exploring expedition. With other adventurers he set sail in an open boat and arrived at the island of Nantucket. Next spring he returned to Dover for his family. He became a leading man in Nantucket, at one time being the Magistrate of the Island. (All information from N.E.G. #8 unless otherwise stated.)

The name Starbuck is from the Norse, and signifies great or grand.
